Wine Tasting At Villa Milagro Vineyard Will Benefit Holland Library

A Hunter's Moon Wine Tasting to benefit the Holland Township Free Public Library will be held on Sunday, Oct. 9, 4-6 p.m. at Villa Milagro Vineyards. The vineyard and winery are known for their fine wines and stunning views of the Delaware River Valley.

Attendees are invited to sample five varieties of wine grown and produced right there, along with refreshments donated by ShopRite and Costco. There will be a 50/50 raffle, as well as door prizes donated by area eateries, including Mezza Luna, Dean's Deli, and other local businesses.

Tickets cost $25 and can be purchased online at villamilagrovineyards.com/holland-library-fundraiser or at the winery, located at 33 County Road 627 (GPS address: Phillipsburg) or at the Library.

Proceeds will help support the library and its many programs. The Holland Library hosts weekly outdoor story times during the warmer months and will offer a greater focus on programming for adults (online and in-person) this autumn and winter.

In recent months Girl Scout Troop 80500 presented an educational and fun-filled Butterfly Festival at the library, followed by a display of live Monarch chrysalises, and the release of the newly hatched butterflies.

The library also hosted a summer reading club; an August visit by a county parks naturalist, featuring live snakes and turtles; and a concert by singer/songwriter Michael Patrick is scheduled for Sept. 14.

The Holland Free Public Library, located at 129 Spring Mills Road (GPS address: Milford), established in 1964, is in the Hunterdon County system, but is run by the Holland Free Public Library Association.

Supervising librarian, Matheson Westlake, has helped develop many programs to engage patrons and their families, whether or not they reside in the township. She also serves as a library assistant for the Hunterdon County Library and hosts “Cats and Crooners,” a jazz and American songbook program on WDVR public radio. She has chosen the mood music for the wine-tasting event.

Villa Milagro Vineyards , located just across the Musconetcong River from Holland Township, offers breathtaking views of four counties in two states. 908-995-2072 for questions.
